A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Unisex underwear according to claim 1, characterized in that the front part generally has a T-shaped configuration (41), the coupling means being arranged in correspondence with the ends of its wings (figures 9 and 10, identifiers: 10, 11, 26, 27).

3. Unisex underwear according to claim 2, characterized in that the rear part (41) can have different configurations (figures 9 and 10), the coupling means being arranged in correspondence with its sides or with its upper end and in correspondence with its lower end (figures 9 and 10: identifiers 10, 11, 12, 26, 27, 28).
